CONVERSATION WITH ROBERT A.M. STERN
AT CREATIVE ARTS WORKSHOP

New Haven, CT – New Haven is a city for great architecture. And who better to talk with about it than Robert A.M. Stern, Dean of Yale’s School of Architecture? Creative Arts Workshop is pleased to host him at an event dedicated to the art entitled “Framing New Haven” on Thursday December 10th from 6 to 8pm. The talk will be moderated by Michael Morand, Deputy Chief Communications Officer for Yale’s Office of Public Affairs and Communications. The evening also provides an opportunity for attendees to take home some art. For sale will be renderings of New Haven buildings by local artists, and art by local architects. And 116 Crown will provide snacks and libations for the event.

“Robert Stern and Michael Morand will make a great team as they explore with our guests the marvels in glass, steel, and stone all around us,” said CAW Executive Director Daniel Fitzmaurice. “And to be able to sell architectural art on top of that will make this an evening to remember.”

Tickets are $40 in advance and $50 at the door. They can be purchased online at www.CreativeArtsWorkshop.org/events, by phone at 203-562-4927, in person, or by mail. Creative Arts Workshop is located at 80 Audubon St., New Haven, CT.
