FRAMING NEW HAVEN CONVERSATION AT CREATIVE ARTS WORKSHOP

New Haven, CT – What’s the news about the news? What will it look like in the future? That will be the topic discussed by Paul Bass, Editor and Founder of the New Haven Independent, and moderated by Will Ginsberg, President and CEO of the Community Foundation for Greater New Haven. The conversation will take place on Thursday November 3 from 6 to 8pm at 80 Audubon St. in New Haven.

News Is the Foundation: Local Media in the 21st Century is the second annual Framing New Haven conversation at CAW, in which city observers share their knowledge and insights with the audience. The two will discuss how local news reporting and civic conversation have evolved over the past few decades in New Haven and nationally, and where the conversation is headed next in a period of rapid technological change.

“We are really looking forward to hearing from these men,” said Daniel Fitzmaurice, CAW’s Executive Director. “Both in their own way have their finger on the pulse of the needs and events of this city. This talk should be very rich.”

Refreshments will be provided by 116 Crown, and there will be ample opportunity to sip and mingle before and after the talk.

Tickets are on sale online at creativeartsworkshop.org/events/framingnhv/, $40 in advance and $50 at the door. Seating is limited. Proceeds benefit CAW.
