20TH ANNUAL BOWL-A-THON
AT CREATIVE ARTS WORKSHOP

New Haven, CT – The Studio Potters at Creative Arts Workshop have reached a heart-warming milestone for their tummy-warming event. Bowl-a-Thon celebrates 20 years of potters making bowls to hold the delicious soups provided by local restaurants for you to enjoy in three ways: the pottery, the soup, and knowing that your purchase supports those in need. The event will be held at CAW, 80 Audubon St. in New Haven from 1 to 5pm on Sunday November 20.

“The Studio Potters typically raise over $8,000 to support the New Haven Community Soup Kitchen,” said Daniel Fitzmaurice, Executive Director. The Community Soup Kitchen at Christ Church Episcopal is a member of End Hunger Connecticut!, the Connecticut Anti-Hunger Coalition, the Connecticut Food Bank, and the Food Assistance Working Group of Greater New Haven.

Food contributors to Bowl-a-Thon will be Chestnut Fine Foods & Confections, Bruegger’s Bagels, Anna Liffey’s Irish Pub & Restaurant, Nica’s Market, Town Pizza, and Chabaso Bakery.

Inspired by the Empty Bowls Project, an international effort by ceramic artists to fight hunger, potter Margie Haggerty saw an opportunity to do something similar on a local level at CAW. Her idea has been going strong now for two decades.

Beautiful handcrafted bowls by CAW potters can be had for a $20 donation, more for larger bowls, less for smaller bowls and mugs. For more information visit CreativeArtsWorkshop.org.
